AMENICO SELLS ONE MILLIONTH GALLON OF RENEWABLE DIESEL FUEL

Pittsfield, NH –American Energy Independence Company (AMENICO) is proud to announce that on October 1st, 2010 they sold their one-millionth gallon of renewable diesel. “Despite having launched our business during the greatest recession since the Great Depression, our renewable diesel sales continue to increase and attract new customers” said Tony Giunta, President and CEO of the company. “Even with the collapse of our financial system and expiration of a key Federal Alternative Fuel Credit, we were still able to attract private investments to help grow our business. I’m very proud and appreciative to all those who supported us in our mission to keep local fuel prices low, reduce carbon emissions, and make our country more energy independent” Mr. Giunta said.

AMENICO’s proprietary manufacturing process produces a renewable diesel that is non-toxic, biodegradable, and carbon neutral. Every gallon used to replace fossil fuel reduces greenhouse gas emissions (GHG) by 80% and reduces the nation’s dependence on foreign oil. It is also cost competitive with fossil fuel thus helping to keep local fuel prices low.

To put into perspective, substituting AMENICO renewable diesel for fossil diesel or home heating oil is equivalent to:

- Eliminating the GHG emissions from 1540 cars for one year.
- Saving 107 tanker trucks of gasoline from being burned.
- Eliminating the GHG emissions produced from burning fossil fuels to supply electricity to 977 homes for one year.
- Planting 1,718 acres of mature carbon sequestering forest.
- Saving GHG emissions from burning 42 railcars of coal.
